WORKSHOP ON RESILIENCE AND EUROPEAN CULTURAL HERITAGE Prague, 21st – 22nd November 2019

We invite academic public to a workshop with visiting scholars from the Warsaw University:

Maciej Falski:

WW2 Heritage and Local Communities in Former Yugoslavia
Thursday 21st November at 3 p.m.

Venue: Charles University, Faculty of Arts, Celetná street 20, room 134

The myth of the victory of communist army in the WW2 was at the very foundation of the socialist Yugoslavia, as it was used to legitimate the regime. The country was studded with memorial sites, remembering the victorious deeds of Yugoslav communists. After the dissolution of Yugoslavia, the inclusive antifascist narrative collapsed and was replaced by nationalist separatist narratives. The question is how local communities deal with it.

Weronika Parfianowicz:

Resilience and Resistance – Josefov fortress in times of climate crisis
Friday 22nd November at 10:50 a.m.

Venue: Charles University, Faculty of Arts, Jana Palacha square 2, room 302A

Since the military discourse and strategies create important part of social mobilisation against climate change, the area of former fortress Josefov allows us to exercise both apocalyptic and utopian scenarios for the near future. In her presentation, Weronika will focus on the categories of urban and social resilience, state of emergency, de-growth strategies and military metaphors.

The language of the workshop will be English.

The workshop is supported by the Strategic Partnerships Programme, research Framework PROGRES and H2020 funded REACH project and the Seminar of General and Comparative History of the Faculty of Arts, Charles University in Prague.
